Attacks in northern Burkina Faso leave more than a dozen dead

Jihadists have killed around 20 people in attacks in three villages in northern Burkina Faso, the epicentre of a five-year-old jihadist insurgency, government officials said on Thursday. The attacks took place on Wednesday in the villages of Demniol, Bombofa and Peteguerse in Seno province, government spokesman Remis Fulgance Dandjinou said in a statement. "The provisional count of these attacks perpetrated in markets and villages shows about 20 victims, as well as wounded and missing persons," he said. Regional governor Salfo Kabore confirmed the attack in another statement. An area resident told AFP at least 24 people were killed in the attacks...

US drone strike kills 2 senior Al Qaeda operatives in Syria

Source

The U.S. military carried out a drone strike Thursday, killing two senior Al Qaeda operatives in northwest Syria.

"U.S. forces conducted a strike against Al Qaeda in Syria in the vicinity of Idlib, Syria, Oct. 15. AQ-S continues to present a threat to America and our allies," Maj. Beth Riordan, a spokesman for U.S. Central Command said in a statement to Fox News. Officials say the strike was carried out by the U.S. military's elite Joint Special Operations Command. It's the first drone strike by the U.S. military against Al Qaeda in Syria since mid-September. The U.S. military has been using a new missile to kill terrorists in the past year dubbed the "flying Ginsu" for the knives released by the specially modified Hellfire missile carried on...

Swiss hospital chief warns of rough ride as virus returns

Source

As coronavirus sweeps across Europe, the head of the biggest hospital in Switzerland, a rich country with one of the world's best healthcare systems, is echoing a growing call to the public: Buckle down. Bertrand Levrat, CEO of Geneva University Hospitals, which counts 12,000 personnel, says Europe overall faces a "turning point" at a time when Switzerland too is fighting a second wave of coronavirus cases that grew in large part out of a summertime lull in which people let down their guard about the highly infectious pandemic. "The virus doesn't spread alone — we are the ones who spread it. It's a line that we don't repeat enough," Levrat said from his office overlooking Geneva, a surgical mask tucked into his jacket pocket...
