Roadside bomb kills four Pakistani soldiers and wounds five in Balochistan province

At least four soldiers were killed and five wounded when their vehicle was blown up by a bomb in Pakistan's southwestern Balochistan province on Wednesday, officials said. The incident took place in the afternoon while the soldiers, from Pakistan's paramilitary Frontier Corps (FC), were on patrol in Kohlu district, some 200 kilometres (186 miles) southeast of the provincial capital Quetta, a spokesman for the force said. "Four soldiers from FC were killed and five wounded, condition of three of them was critical," the spokesman said, adding that the blast was caused by an improvised explosive device. Two senior government officials in Quetta confirmed the incident and the details. The Pakistani military has been fighting a low-level...

A new attack targets the US-led coalition in Iraq

Shafaq News / An explosion occurred on Wednesday targeting a convoy carrying logistical support equipment for the US-led Coalition in Yusufiya road, south of Baghdad. A security source told Shafaq News Agency the attack causing no casualties. There was no claim of responsibility. The Iraqi authorities issued warnings of repeated targeting of foreign forces and diplomatic missions in the country. On January 5, the Iraqi parliament voted by majority to end the foreign military presence on the country's territory, following the killing of the Iranian Quds Force commander, Qassem Soleimani, and the deputy head Al-Hashd Al-Shaabi, Abu Mahdi Al-Muhandis, in an American airstrike near Baghdad International Airport. Russia says militant commander linked to 2011 Moscow airport bombing killed in Chechnya

MOSCOW (Reuters) - Russian forces have killed a Chechen separatist guerrilla commander believed to have been involved in a deadly bombing at Moscow's Domodedovo airport in 2011, authorities said on Wednesday. Aslan Byutukayev was one of six militants killed during a special operation in the village of Katyr-Yurt, about 1,500 km (930 miles) south of Moscow, Chechen regional leader Ramzan Kadyrov said. Byutukayev is suspected of being behind a bombing that killed nearly 40 people in the arrivals hall of Domodedovo airport in 2011. He is also accused of taking part in other attacks, including on Grozny, the Chechen capital. The United States added him to its list of Specially Designated Global Terrorists (SDGT) in 2016....

Joe Biden becomes 46th US president making sweeping changes to key Trump policies in first few hours

Source

Joseph R Biden Jr has been sworn in as president of the United States and Kamala Harris has become the first female Vice President in US history. The new US president called for unity after the violent riot that took place at the Capitol Hill, stating that the will of the people had been heeded. He began by signing a series of executive orders, moving to undo some of Donald Trump's policies just hours after being sworn into office. They include an executive action calling for the US to rejoin the Paris climate deal and others that would see the previous administration's stance on immigration and race relations reversed. After the inauguration ceremony, Biden and Harris went to Arlington National Cemetery where they participated with former US presidents in...
